WARREN'S

COUGH BALSAM

Has been found, by experience, to be the Best Remedy for the various Diseases of the Lungs and Throat, such as

Diphtheria,

Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, Croup, Influenza, Pleurisy, Pneumonia or Inflammation of the Lungs, and Whooping Cough.

IN these Complaints this Medicine has NO SUPERIOR; and while thus efficacious it is perfectly SAFE to administer to persons of all ages.

At all times of the year this Balsam is found useful, especially in the Autumn, Winter and Spring; and many Colds and Coughs, which, if neglected, might prove fatal, may be CURED at once, by a few doses of this invaluable remedy.

This Cough Balsam possesses the two-fold advantage of being at once valuable as curative and palatable as a preventive of all the diseases of the Throat, Lungs and Bronchia.

In DIPHTHERIA this Balsam has proved itself unexpectedly efficacious. When given at the first onset of the Pestilence, it checks it at once; and in many cases, is be-lieved by those who have used it, to have saved their lives.

In ASTHMA, however violent and distressing, this Balsam gives prompt relief.

In BRONCHITIS and PNEUMONIA it relieves the irritation, loosens the Cough, and promotes a favorable expectoration.

In CROUP its powers are almost magical. This insidious disease, coming literally "like a thief in the night," may be speedily and effectually arrested by a few timely doses of this Balsam.

In WHOOPING COUGH it moderates the paroxysms, prevents the disease from assuming its severest and dangerous form, and shortens it course.

Every family should keep it in the house, and thus avoid the dangerous delay occasioned by sending out for the medicine when needed for immediate use.

The best recommendation for a good medicine is found in its use. If the following certificate from one who has used it does not give you confidence in it, try one bottle for yourself, and you will be convinced. If it will cost you but twenty-five cents, and may save you as many dollars in time and doctors' bills.

Letter from Col. Roberts.

FELLOW WARREN:—Allow me to thank you for the bountiful supply of Cough Balsam received by me from you, through Lieut. Boynton. Many a soldier in my command, be well as officer, has experienced the beneficial effects of the same. We all pronounce the article second to none on Brigade surgeon, Dr Lyman, of Boston, to whom I presented a bottle.

Iron-clad Fleet. Eight of the nine Ericsson batteries of the Monitor class are completed. A few days ago the Sabgamon set out for her destination at the South. On Monday the Nantucket was handed over to the Government, at the Charlestown Navy Yard, and it is understood that she will sail on Friday for Fortress Monroe. She is an exact counterpart of the Nahant, already in southern waters, and is to be commanded by the gallant Fairfax.—Today the Catskill is to be turned over to the navy at the Brooklyn yard. She is a copy of the Passaic, now at Beaufort or that vicinity, and she will probably leave New York harbor by the end of this week, under Commander Rogers.

The only Monitor now unfinished is the Lehigh, which is afloat and in rapid progress.

New Ironsides, frigate, first class; Roanoke, frigate, first class; Galena, corvette; Passaic, turret battery, Patapsco, do; Montauk, do; Weehawken, do; Sangamon, do.; Nantucket, do.; Catskill, do.

This certainly looks like business; and if the operations on the Southern coast, "mean business," we should soon hear such news from them as will efface the humiliation of our disasters at Galveston, Charleston and the Sabine Pass.

The Copperheads Catch it Again.

The brave western soldiers are raining down reproaches so fast and so heavily upon the western copperheads that the traitorous sentiments will not know where to hide The pie turn had dropped out of their calculations the existence of the patriotic soldiers We could fill our columns with the letters, resolutions and speeches of the soldiers who are pouring out their maledictions on the heads of the men who would basely betray the country into the hands of the rebels. General Nathan Kimball, of Indiana, who had distinguished himself in several battles, and who was wounded at Fredericksburg, made a speech at Indianapolis on the 12th inst We quote from the report in the Indianapolis Journal. He said—

He had seen since he had been at home, proof in plenty, in speeches, in resolutions, and newspaper articles, that the army was suffering from a fire in the rear He said he was a democrat, though born a whig, and meant to live and die a democrat, yet he had no word but of condemnation for those who faltered or failed to stand by the army and the country There could be no peace but an honorable one, and no honorable peace could be obtained without the suppression of the rebellion. An armistice, a dishonorable peace, was only renewed and interminable civil war For the men who force the country to submit to the rebellion, or acknowledge the confederacy, degrade the nation and disgrace the army, would have to fight that army when it came home. (Applause.) The army will never submit to the disgrace of confessing that it has been beaten by the rebels; and those who force such a result upon them, by manhunt ons at home, or by refusing it support and encouragement, will see the time when they will beg the rocks and mountains to fall upon them and hide them from the vengeance of that army (Applause.) He denounced all measures looking to an armistice with a soldier's vehemence of patriotism An armistice, he said, was nothing but a proposal to give the rebels a chance to recover their strength and renew their ability to attack us. There was no honorable or safe course but to fight to the last, and if the people at home would only unite in holding up the hands of their brethren in the field, the war would not last three months He was an eye witness to the fact that but for their slaves, the rebels could not have resisted us twelve months He alluded to the attempts to demoralize the army, and the associations at home to encourage and protect deserters, and denounced them with unmeasured bitterness. The soldiers hated them, he said, and would yet punish them The Knights of the Golden Circle are doomed (Tremendous cheering)

Before the Administration swooned to the Abolitionists and made the emancipation policy the "Republican policy," it received the support of the Democrats, who were foremost in filling up the army.—Union Advocate

The Advocate is not one of the prominent organs of the "democracy," but it falsifies truth quite as readily as the Argus or Belfast Journal. The democrats who are now loud-mouthed against the Administration never sustained it. The Advocate and its confederates opposed the "unholy war" from the commencement, and clamored for "peace" and "no coercion" more loudly even in 1861 than in 1862 Not a word was ever said by these Dana Democrats in favor of sustaining the Government, either before or after emancipation was adopted as a war measure There is not a democrat now who was ever truly loyal who will refuse to stand by the Government in the prosecution of the war, although he may differ in opinion with the Government as to the expediency of its measures. No loyal man of whatever party will oppose the war and thus aid the enemies of the country, simply because the war is not carried on according to his peculiar ideas

The Belfast Journal talks all round the question at issue between us, when it attempts to explain Gen. Jackson's management of the South Carolina nullifiers. It does not meet the point which we made, viz., but Jackson threatened to hang the first traitor of them who attempted to resist the laws of the United States—whereas the Journal is said was in favor of compromising and not hanging.

A Confederate Liberal. The Rockland Democrat has been favored with the following epistle:—

Union Feb 12 1863

Dear Sir

you will Oblige me by stopping my paper with the first two years Twentieth of this Month I have paid you for negroes two years and I have got a plenty just as many as I can take care of you are a black republican and you are the databest of all dandies! I am a democrat and allway was and allways mean to be and now you will oblige me very much by stopping it and you will be glad to come back to the old democrat land I remain your obedient servant John Briggs.

Copperhead Students of natural history will be glad to learn that the American copperhead is known in scientific circles as the trigonocephalus contortrix—so called, says the Troy (N. Y.) Times, because the animal has "triangles in the head" and is remarkable for its contortions, whenever a vigorous war measure is proposed by the Administration. Linnæus named the creature "os (anglice, Bore) contortrix, with a prophetic reference to the inexplicably tortuous principles of Mr James Brooks. In districts where the reptile abounds, it is known as "the common people of the rattlesnake's mate," as a very proper sort of mate it is for the abominable reptile.

Hard on Ogden Hoffman. A French gentleman, M. Merlin, has sent letters a dozen miles square, in which he informs the world that the power in "the supreme multitude [voices]" of us would have tongued it!

Editorial and Other Items.

—The plantation of Gen Henry A Wise in Virginia, will be taken possession of in a few days by Dr Brown, and put under cultivation by contrabands

—Our amiable friend of the Belfast Journal is apparently not pleased with the frequent notices which we have felt obliged to make of its secession principles Speaking of our recommendation of Union Leagues it calls the Whig very bad names indeed, but we think abuse from such a source can be endured The Journal warns the "democracy" to beware of the Union Leagues, and says

Once a secret organization of Know Nothings misled many of the Democracy, but becoming odious in the eyes of the people sunk and perished in its own corruption

We do not observe in the Journal any reference to a secret society called the "K G C"—Does the editor know anything about that order?

—It is officially stated that applications for postal currency can be supplied by any of the departments of the Treasury; $2,000,000 is not yet in circulation, but more is being provided for at the rate of $3,200,000 a day

—A clause in the Western Virginia constitution providing for the gradual emancipation of slavery, commencing the 4th of July next, has been ratified by the constitutional convention

—John Van Buren, whose copperheadism is dead and buried, thinks the war will last six months longer, and we shall hold out longer than the rebels do win

—The Louisville Journal thinks that those who pretend to be for the Union, but send up ominous howls over every military arrest, have more liberties than they personally deserve

—The first cargo of tea imported direct from Japan sold for $1 20 to $1 25 per pound It is claimed that this tea is free from adulteration when brought direct from Japan

—A Louisiana planter recently called his slaves together, and requested them to give a sample of their singing, to show some Union officers, who was his guests, how well they could enjoy themselves It is said he was not a little surprised when they struck up "Old John Brown," whose "soul is marching on"

—The ancient Egyptians squandered untold sums in building useless pyramids, but they left the great work of antiquity, the Suez canal to be completed in our day

—Gough, the great temperance lecturer, is of the practical humanitarians He is now supporting 17 indigent young men in college — Edmund $30,000 by lecturing in England, and returned with only $1300!

—Governor Robinson of Kentucky heartily approves the action of Colonel Gilbert in dispersing the recent rebel convention at Frankfort in that State

—The average salary of dissenting pastors in England is stated, by a writer in the Weekly Review, to be £50, or $260 a year

—The St Louis Democrat, speaking of the next election in Kentucky, says that from its knowledge of the feeling there, if anything like the proper effort shall be made, several trustworthy supporters of the administration will be sent to the next Congress

—Of the Polish insurrection the London News says

"By the latest accounts, the number of persons joining the insurrection was continually increasing, and extensive districts had been entirely cleared of Russian troops, who had taken refuge in bodies of 500 at a time within the Prussian frontier Hitherto the success of the insurgents has surpassed the expectations of Russia and of Europe, probably it has exceeded their own hopes Still it may prove but transitory if the Russian Government be permitted to organize and advance its forces at leisure — It may be otherwise of the contagion of agrarianism, is embodied in the proclamation of the Polish Central Committee, should extend to Russia and excite agitation among the peasantry, whose situation, as we have seen, renders them peculiarly susceptible to influences of this order In that case the Russian Government might find too much employment for its forces at home to be able to subdue Poland"

Decline of the "Peace" Movement The Boston Daily Advertiser says the failure of the peace conference movement in the Illinois and Kentucky Legislatures has occasioned no doubt in part by the contempt with which the secession leaders receive the over zeal of their old friends and allies The St Louis Democrat states the case upon this point very well, as follows —

The fact is that the Northern sympathizers with treason have begun to find that very "Peace, peace!" as much as they may, there is no peace The consequence is that many of them, like John Van Buren, will cease the cry and take up the tune that the war must go on Nearly all of them have once sung hosannas to the war, and the change from the advocacy of peace to war will be no more difficult than was the one from war to peace"

The loyal border State men who have had to bear the brunt of this war, were actuated, as it appeared, by no such mild notions of the rights and dignity of the government as are held by those who claim to be their especial friends — For instance the Louisville Journal of the 17th says

The adoption of the policy of Mr. Vallandigham at the outset of the struggle would have been fatal to our national honor, a confession that the theory of our government had been a lamentable failure, and an admission that the people were unable or unfit to govern themselves under republican institutions How much more degrading and subversive of the great principles which underlie our Constitution would a craven peace be now when we have so lavishly expended blood and treasure to maintain the integrity of the Union and to show to the world that our popular institutions are self-sustaining, and that the great problem of our government has not received its demonstration to an absurdity"

Even the St Louis Republican, a journal whose sympathies have sometimes been regarded with no little doubt, takes ground which would not have been countenanced at all by the "new Hartford Convention." That paper says in its issue of the 16th:—

The Democratic and conservative party of the North must not place itself in a position to be reckoned in any sense the champion or apologist of Disunion, for, if it should do so, it is plain that peace will be only the further removed by the encouragement the South will have to hold out for its original demand, viz.: the unqualified acknowledgment on our part of a divided nation

However the case may have once stood, at this immediate stand, it is quite apparent that love of Union—the whole Union, the great Republic of our fathers—and opposition to the further prosecution of the war, are now incompatible in the loyal states, meaning the present unaccompromising and insolent attitude of the leaders of the rebellion When the issue is so unmistakably made up, and no disposition is shown to reserve any peaceable overtures whatever, we does no recourse but to fight

The same paper also flatly contradicts the assertions made by Mr D A Mahony, the Iowa editor now in New York, as to the prevalence of "peace" sentiments in the Northwest, and after denying that the radical policy has made the rebels any more hostile to the Union than they were before, comes to the following wise conclusion —

It is no argument against the war that some persons support it because they believe it will result in the abolition of slavery Whatever side issues there may be in the minds of different persons, the contest is still one for Union; and pre eminently so. We can only have Union now by vigorously prosecuting the war, for to cease hostilities in the face of the uncompromising demands of the rebels is simply to consent to the disintegration of the country

The reaction from the army was also very effective in demonstrating to the ultra opposition that they were going too far Thus the Chicago Evening Journal of the 17th inst, explains the reason of the failure of the "pacification" resolutions in the Illinois legislature as follows —

There is a set of resolutions in print, endorsed by several thousand Illinois soldiers now in Mississippi, and a virtuous principle of loyalty and patriotism still extant in the West, which not only offset the legislative "pacification" resolutions, but actually prevented the final action of the Senate to give them force. In short, the Senate did not dare to vote upon them

In confirmation of this the Evening Journal prints a part of a private letter from the army at Corinth, from which we take following extract —

The troops from other States take almost as much interest in this affair as do those from Illinois, though they have taken no part in the proceedings They say, significantly, "Why don't you march right to your Capitol and hang every traitor?" Our troops reply, "Wait, obey the laws, but prosecute the war until we are at an honorable peace Those traitors at Springfield cannot, dare not, pull down our State Constitution. Wait until they have had time to realize the utter disgrace which they will bring upon themselves They dare not commit the treason."

☞ The Penobscot Quarterly Conference of the Baptist Churches will hold its next meeting with the Bapt s Church at Oldtown, commencing Tuesday, March 3d, at 10 o'clock, A M — Introductory sermon by Rev A K P. Small of this city

Serious Accident Yesterday morning Mrs Lunt, (mother of Mr Oliver A. Lunt,) rose at her usual time, about six o'clock, and started down stairs with a lighted kerosene lamp in her hand After proceeding a few steps it is supposed that she fainted and in falling, the chimney of the lamp was broken, and the oil escaped from the lamp upon her dress, at the same time taking fire from the flame of the lamp. Mr Lunt, who fortunately, slept in a room near by, heard the noise of the fall, jumped out of bed and ran to the door, when he saw his mother lying at the foot of the stairs, senseless and her clothing in flames. He ran down instantly, taking part of the way, and was just able to extinguish the flames before they reached any vital part His own hands were badly burned and one of Mrs Lunt's arms. She also received some injuries in falling, and as she had previously been in very feeble health, it is feared that the shock to her system may produce serious, if not fatal results

Error. We learn that John Ware, Esq., of Waterville, has not purchased a part of the water power at that place, as was stated by the Maine Farmer—consequently that new woolen mill will not be built at present

A train of 26 cars burned by Rebels—Another attempt to Destroy a Passenger Train—Battle at Tuckytown, Ky—The Rebels badly Whipped—An Invasion Expected at Lexington, Ky

LOUISVILLE, 26th

About o clock this afternoon, 28 cars, mostly loaded by soldiers going from here to Nashville by railroad, were seized by about 60 armed rebels at Woodburn, 12 miles below Bowling Green, and burned. The rebels then broke up the locomotive and sent it ahead at full speed, supposing it would come in contact with a passenger train coming from Nashville. Luckily the passenger train had not reached the bridges, that the rebels had so injured the bridges, that the passenger train had returned to Nashville, and the locomotive having exhausted its steam, stopped on the track doing no damage.

LEXINGTON, Ky., 26

A reliable private despatch says the rebels under Clark, were overtaken at Tuckytown, 12 miles east of Mount Sterling, traveling towards Paris, and were badly whipped yesterday. Powell's force under Pegram, left Mount Vernon yesterday coming towards Lexington

There is great disinterment here. The usual daily reports prevail of a projected invasion of Kentucky by a large rebel force through Cumberland Gap, whether the military authorities are notified, but are beginning to yield to the public belief that a formidable invasion from that quarter is not far distant

The soldiers are on the alert and if the rebels attempt mean to give them a warm reception

WASHINGTON, 27th.

Secretary Chase's recent decision that foreign vessels are to be prohibited from participating in the trade between California and the East via the Isthmus, is exciting considerable interest.

The Pacific mail steamship company, it is said proposes to employ counsel to remonstrate with the secretary. As the Secretary, however, did not make the law, but only states what it is, it is said the decision will be reversed.

A similar decision was made by Secretary Chase a year ago, which he repealed under the influence of Senators Yates, Benjamin, Gwin and others. It was at that time considered the policy of the Government to foster the aforesaid steamship company, which is said proposes to employ counsel to remonstrate with the secretary. As the Secretary, however, did not make the law, but only states what it is, it is said the decision will be reversed.

A correspondent states that the small pox is not now prevailing to some extent at Beaufort. There are periodically among the contrabands though a few or eight cases were discovered not long among the soldiers of the 8th Maine regiment

The negroes by their filthy habits are constantly contracting and disseminating the loathsome disease Surgeon Crane, the Medical Director, has advised their removal beyond the limits of the city, and General Hunter has directed that all negroes be necessary in the Quartermasters Department shall be so disposed of.

The Port Royal correspondent of the Times, under date Feb 16th, writes—

The steamship Ericsson arrived yesterday in 11 days from New York, with only one of the boilers in running order. She started with five, but on the way having by stress of weather broken loose and sunk

Considerable body of troops have been despatched to Ogeechee, and the Monitor, Montauk and Passaic are also to be stationed there for the present. These movements are already attracting attention in that direction.

Savannah papers of the 16th and 17th inst. received yesterday under a flag of truce, speaks of an expected attack upon that city, and the rebels seem to be preparing for it

NEW YORK, 27th.

The Times' Washington despatch states that the Press list has sent in the following nominations for Maj and Brig Generals in accordance with the Senate's resolution. The selections made are regarded by the Senate as excellent, although many meritorious officers have been passed.

To be Major Generals—William S Rosecrans, Joseph Hooker, Darius N Couch, John Sedgwick, John G Foster, Christopher C. Augur, Robert C Schenck, Stephen H Hurlbut, James B McPherson, George G Meade, James S. Negley, John J Palmer, Joseph G. Blunt, Philip Kearney, George Stoneman and John M. Schofield

Thirty-Seventh Congress

SECOND SESSION.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, 27 h.

A communication was received from the Secretary of the Treasury, transmitting additional reports from collectors concerning duties on paper

A committee of conference was appointed on the bill limiting the number of Major and Brigadier Generals

The bill establishing rules and articles of war with amendments, was reported back from the military committee

A memorial was presented from the merchants of New York, asking investigation into prize sales, and the passage of acts to secure speedy and less expensive sales and distribution of the the proceeds. Referred to naval committee

A joint resolution was offered relative to the payment of volunteers Referred.

The bill establishing an educational institution for colored children in the District of Columbia was passed—yeas 29, nays 9

The committee of conference on the bill providing ways and means for the support of the government made a report which was agreed to, and a new conference committee was appointed on the amendment relative to the tax on banks.

The bill to extend the Washington and Alexandria railroad was taken up

An amendment adopted that colored people be allowed to ride

Mr Clark opposed the bill, and referred to a letter from the Secretary of War against the measure

Mr McDougal denounced the Secretary of War as a base man, and was called to order.

The bill passed.

The bill for the collection of abandoned property, and the prevention of fraud in insurrectionary districts was taken up

An amendment was adopted, excluding all captures by the navy

An amendment was adopted, excluding all property intended to be used against the United States—such as ships, munitions of war, &c

Mr Wilson of Missouri, made a motion to strike out the section authorizing agents of the Treasury to buy cotton, rice, sugar and tobacco.

Mr Wilson of Massachusetts made a report, from the committee of conference on the bill to limit the number of Major and Brigadier Generals. Agreed to.

The report makes in all 50 Major Generals and 276 Brigadiers.

The Senate then took a recess until seven o'clock

EVENING SESSION.

The bill to facilitate the taking of depositions in the United States to be used in other countries was passed

The Senate then resumed the consideration of the bill for the collection of abandoned property, in insurrectionary districts, the pending question being on motion to strike out sections authorizing agents of the Treasury, to purchase cotton, rice, sugar and tobacco.

Mr Wilson of Mass defended General Butler from remarks of Davis of Kentucky. He said General Butler had turned over to General Banks nearly a million dollars worth of property, and put in the Treasury nearly three-quarters of a million. He had done more than almost any man to support the government and restore order in New Orleans. General Butler had supported nearly 80,000 poor people, and had levied contributions on the rebels to furnish means. He thought the imputations against General Butler entirely unmerited for, and unjust. He did not believe General Butler ever received for any thing wrongfully at New Orleans, or attempted to do so.

Mr Davis said that at the next session he would call for a committee of investigation into the doings of General Butler.

Mr Davis in course of some remarks said many officers had engaged in the collection of a large amount of plunder and he understood General Butler, through a brother of his had been largely engaged in this plunder.

Mr Wilson said these charges were made by men who hated General Butler. Every man who acted with vigor and energy against the rebels had been slandered and abused. No man had done more than General Butler, and he hoped the Senator would be true to his promise and call for a committee to investigate the conduct of General Butler. He believed these imputations would prove to be unfounded in fact.

Mr Davis said the men who had done so much for their country were aspersed, and the brightest instance was General McClellan at the commencement of the war. He believed Adjutant General Thomas a traitor, and sympathized with treason. He (Davis) had offered a resolution to invest gate his conduct, but the Senator from Mass., Mr Wilson, had objected.

Mr Rice said he believed there was no more loyal man than General Thomas. He never shrank from any investigation, and it would have been a bright day for him if the resolution of the committee had passed. As for Gen Butler, he (Rice) was here during the dark days when General Butler was our only hope, when he had command at Annapolis, and he thought it a great mistake when General Butler was taken away from New Orleans, and a dark day for the loyal people of New Orleans. He did not believe General Butler ever took a dollar from any loyal man.

Mr Davis asked how it was that Gen Butler's brother became so rich.

Mr Rice said he knew nothing about General Butler's brother, and there was not a particle of evidence before the Senate that he ever took a dollar. It was a mere newspaper report, and he thought grave charges should not be made in that way. Semi-rebels and sympathizers with treason were apt to complain

Mr Davis asked what the Senator thought of the gross order of General Butler with regard to women.

Mr Rice said he could not judge of the provocation for that order, but from General Butler's explanation of it, it was evident it did not mean what the rebels tried to make it mean. In regard to the gentleman from St Louis, who says he lost his plate and furniture, he was either a traitor or else General Butler never touched him or his property.

Mr Davis said he understood this gentleman was as loyal the Senator from Minnesota.

Mr Rice said he made no professions to loyalty.

Mr Davis said he had better make none.

Mr Chandler then raised the point that this discussion was entirely irrelevant

The Chair decided that the point was correctly taken.

Mr Chandler said the bill was to act against the rebels, and he did not expect the Senator from Kentucky (Mr Powell) to support it. He did not expect him to support anything calculated to support the Government. A rebel has no right to life, liberty and happiness. Even life was a boon to him.

Mr Powell said he did not expect the Senator from Michigan (Chandler) to sustain anything that had a reasonable amount of honesty and constitutional law in it. His contempt that the bill had nothing to do with the rebels

On motion of Mr Wilson of Massachusetts, the further consideration of the bill was postponed.

Mr Wilson called up the joint resolution giving the thanks of Congress to General Rosecrans and officers and men under his command, for gallantry at Murfreesboro. Passed.

The Senate then went into executive session. Adjourned.

HOUSE.

A resolution was adopted requesting the Secretary of the Treasury to decline further payment to parties chartering the steamer Catalina.

The House went into committee of the whole and took up the amendment of the internal revenue bill. A substitute was adopted for 6th section imposing new rates of stamp tax on promissory notes in order that it may be more certainly executed, also on bonds and mortgages with powers of Attorney, and upon sale of ships, and assignments of insurance policy, or exempt soldiers and sailors pension papers, from taxation

Several more right amendments were adopted

Mr Morrell's amendment provides that licenses and taxes shall uniformly terminate on the 1st of May.

Section 15 was amended so that the salaries of Collectors shall not exceed $ 5,000

Several amendments were adopted

Mr Morrell offered a new section that every incorporated bank or private institution authorized to issue notes shall make no return on the 1st of January or July, or within 60 days thereafter, of amount of profits earned during six months, on which shall be paid 3 per cent—Adopted

A new section was added to dispense with the Collectors and Assessors for the territories after the present assessment is collected

The House here took recess until 7 o'clock

EVENING SESSION

The committee rose, having acted on all sections of the bill, and reported its action to the House.

Mr Washburne, from Committee of Conference on the disorganizing amendment to bank clause tax bill to provide ways and means for the support of the Government, reported that the committee were unable to agree.

Roscoe Conkling raised a point of order that the amendment proposed tax, it must be considered in committee of the whole

Mr Washburne moved the previous question, which was not seconded—yeas 48, nays 68. A debate ensued

By a vote of 68 to 76 the House refused to recede from its disagreement to Senate amendment.

The House insisted on its disagreement and asked for another committee of conference on disagreeing votes

The committee on bill to indemnify the President and others for acts committed under suspension of the privilege of a writ of habeas corpus, made a report thereon; authorizes the President, during the present rebellion, and when public safety requires it, to suspend writ of habeas corpus in any State or part of State, and provides for discharges by court—parties discharged to take oath of allegiance.

Mr Pendleton raised to point of order that this was not the report agreed upon in joint committee of conference, but was altered after the meeting adjourned, contrary to the manual

Messrs Stevens and Bingham severally explained, the report being signed by a majority of conferees

The Speaker put the question as to whether the report should be received. Decided in the affirmative 88 to 42

Mr. Pendleton suggested that the report be printed and laid over until Monday

Mr Stevens said he was willing of the previous question on the bill should now be seconded.

Mr Pendleton and Voorhies would not consent to this

Mr Stevens said there was no other way left him then to demand the previous question

Mr. Pendleton moved to table the bill.

Mr Noble moved to adjourn

Mr Ancona thereupon demanded the yeas and nays

The vote was taken and the House decided not to adjourn 84 to 90.

It was now 10 o'clock, and the question recurred on laying the report on the table, when Mr Ancona, at his own request, was excused from voting. Vote was then taken by yeas and nays

Mr Allen moved to reconsider the vote and lay that motion on the table. Negatived by a yea and nay vote

Mr Ancona moved that when the House adjourn it be until Monday.

Mr Wood moved that it be until Tuesday.

Mr Allen of Illinois moved the yeas and nays

No quorum voting. Mr Bingham at 11 o'clock moved a call of the House. Agreed to.

Excuses were heard from absentees

On motion of F A Conkling, at midnight the Sergeant at Arms was directed to bring in absentees.

Mr Wickliffe wanted to know whether it would be in order to move a recess until 11 o'clock to-morrow

Chair—Mr Dawes decided in the negative.

The House is still in session at the close of our report.
